

Operation Recess

Operation Recess sends BPD officers into the community's elementary schools during recess hours with the purpose of playing games and participating in activities with students on the playground. Officers are not there as rule enforcers, but as partners and supporters of the students. This is a great opportunity for students and officers to communicate and have a positive interaction and experience while having fun. There is also a big emphasis on anti-bullying behavior.

